

ESCADARIA CUCAMACUCA

QUINTA DA IVANTA ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREA

We are in an archaeological area where structures from a Roman mining settlement have been identified: remains of dwellings, walls, channels, tanks and galleries, some of which are related to gold mining.

Of the excavated structures, we have a drainage and water conduction system around the walls of the dwellings, as well as a channel connecting to a series of tanks, excavated in the rock, which may be related to ore washing and decanting.

We hope to continue the research work in this area in order to deepen our knowledge of human occupation in our territory.

Photo: Arquiology and Heritage